

Dear Parent,

On January 8, 2002, President Bush signed into law The No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB). One of the requirements of the law is that schools share information with parents and the public regarding school improvement, teacher qualifications, and student performance on state tests.

Although Clinton Park Elementary School does not participate in state testing, we are happy to report that the State did not identify us for school improvement.

High academic achievement is the standard for student performance at Clinton Park Elementary School. All students are expected to master each subject at the proficient level or above. Administrators, teachers, and support staff are dedicated to providing students with the knowledge and skills to help them be successful.

We hope you will use the information in this Report Card to support our commitment to academic excellence and work with us to help each student reach the highest level of achievement. Together we can accomplish this goal.
